The Fort Mason Foundation, a privately-funded nonprofit organization, is engaged in renovating surplus military buildings at Fort Mason, headquarters of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. The Foundation administers Fort Mason Center which is located on the Bay between Aquatic Park and the Marina Green. In less than four years, the Center has become a national model for low-cost community-responsive urban parks.

DATED MATERIAL

3rd ANNUAL BAY AREA SMALL PRESS BOOKFAIR

"Books...I Love em!" Posters all over the Bay Area have set the stage for one of the most excitig and unique bookfairs in the country, the 3rd Annual Bay Area Small Press Bookfair. Sponsored by San Francisco Arts and Letters, with support from local and state arts groups, small presses and the National Endowment for the Arts, the multi-cultural event will be held Saturday and Sunday, December 12 and 13 in Building C on the first and second floors. Hours are: Noon to 5 p.m., December 12, and Noon to 6 p.m., December 13. It is FREE and open to the public.

In addition to the special Christmas book sales by the over 100 small presses attending, there will be a combined book exhibit displaying nearly 100 additional titles by presses from all over the world. Featured poets will include Dr. Gordon Curzon, Paul Fericano and Karla Andersdatter on Decmber 12. Sharon Doubiago and Opal L. Nations will be the poets featured on December 13. Also, an open poetry reading, interpreters for the deaf and participation by the California Library Association will be on the program. Special honored guest will be Sen. Milton Marks, who will receive an award for his contributions to the arts and the handicapped.

Video-tapes of small press publishers and authors from Channel 25's, "Lawson & Arts" T.V. program will include interviews and reading by Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Jack Micheline, the COSMEP Poets, Scott Beach and others. Some art, sculpture and photography will also be on display and a gift table of crafted items will be on sale. A bookfair catalog listing all the presses and events is available ($2.50 at bookfair, $3. mailed.) For more information on the 3rd Annual Bay Area Small Press Bookfair call 771-3431.

FRIENDS BENEFITS

Seasons Greetings Friends...
During the festive month of December, Greens is offering our Friends $1. off on a lunch with the presentation of your Friends of Fort Mason membership card.

Academy of Media and Theatre Arts is offering a discount sure to please the aspiring young actress or actor on your holiday shopping list. For their spring semester of classes in Creative Drama for ages 9-12, and Basic Theatre Techniques, for ages 12-19, AMATA is offering ½ scholarships to Friends of Fort Mason. For the price of $125. (instead of $250.) you can purchase a semesters worth of drama classes for your favorite young person, a great present with lasting value! Contact AMATA at 776-4720. An interview with the prospective student is necessary, but can be arranged any time before the beginning of the semester, Jan. 28, 1982. Tuition is immediately refundable, if necessary, at the conclusion of the interview.

Once again Actors' Ark is offering a discount on tickets for "The Goodbye People." Show times are Th., Fri., Sat. at 8:30pm, and Sun. at 2pm, through Dec. 20. Tickets for Friends are $5. each.

If you haven't already done so, there is still time to purchase tickets for the PASS after-regular-museum-hours trip to the Edward Hopper Exhibition at the SF Museum of Modern Art on Jan. 8, 1982, from 6:15-9:30. Tickets are $4./person. We must receive your orders by 12/10. Make your reservations by mailing us a check made out to PASS, for the number of tickets you would like. Please write TICKET ORDER on the envelope and send it to FMC, Marina and Laguna SF, CA 94123. We will mail the tickets to you as soon as we get them from PASS.

The San Francisco Museum of Modern Art Rental Gallery regularly offers Friends of Fort Mason a 5% discount on sales. The gallery is located in Building A, right next to the Center offices.

FOLK ART INTERNATIONAL

An elephant chair from Burma, a farmer's rain coat made of straw and an African fly swatter are among the unique objects to be featured at the Folk Art International exhibition and sale November 25th thru December 24th. The hours are 9:a.m. to 10:p.m., daily. Admission is FREE.

The original wooden folding chair and a storyboard depicting life in a village of Papua New Guinea are other one-of-a-kind pieces in this amazing assortment of museum quality masks, toys, sculpture, carvings, weavings, rugs, baskets, artifacts, paintings and jewelry from all over the world to be made available at moderate prices for collecting and Christmas giving.

The exhibition is the result of six years of travel to the most remote parts of Asia, Papua New Guinea, Africa, Indonesia, Europe, Mexico and South America by Folk Art International, six collectors who have long been associated in a world-wide search for fine folk art. The group is comprised of: Raymond Handley, explorer and industrial solar energy developer; Y.A. Tittle, member of the Football Hall of Fame and insurance executive: Louise Handley, designer; Minette Tittle, traveler and collector of Appalachian art; Georgia MacLeod Sales, architect and interior designer; Nancy Armstrong, interior designer.

The members of Folk Art International are concerned that folk art, the heart of many cultures, is being threatened with extinction by advanced technology. With this in mind, they have established an ambitious program to rekindle public interest in folk and tribal art. A major fact of this program is a non-profit museum, instituted last summer in a spacious, reconstructed warehouse in South San Francisco, wherein special admission-free exhibitions are continuously on view.

Selected works from the Museum's collection such as fine quilts and pillows by the Pennsylvania Amish and toys rooted in pre-industrial traditions by the Craftsmen Guild of Tokyo will be featured in the Fort Mason Show. Also, on view will be a sizeable display of wearable folk art in tune with today's fashion—like African sun hats and thick wool sweaters knitted for the Indian fishermen of British Columbia and long-hair sheep coats from Uraguay.

For more information about the exhibit and sale call 873-3536.

DEAR FRIENDS:

1981 has been a very active and productive year at the Fort Mason Center, and as a supporter of the project we want to keep you informed of our progress and accomplishments.

During 1981 our fifty resident groups, and the five hundred non-resident groups who use the Fort Mason Center produced some of the most exciting and varied programs we have had in our five years of activity here. These classes, exhibits, performances, conferences and meetings attracted 1.3 million visitors from the Bay Area, and beyond. They included the Asian-American Jazz Festival, the 3rd Annual All-Indian Nations Arts Festival, the People's Theatre Festival, the Small Press Book Fair, the World Wildlife Conservation Auction, and thousands of others.

Many new groups have established residency at the Fort Mason Center this year, as we have attempted to develop a program which reflects the cultural diversity of the Bay Area. The Mexican Museum, the African-American Historical and Cultural Society, the San Francisco Dancers Workshop Third World Reach-Out Program, the Academy of Media and Theatre Arts, Actors' Ark, City Celebration and the Center for Educational Telecommunications have added their presence to the many others which preceded them. Additionally, Cooks and Company has opened an excellent food concession in Building B.

A great deal of local, regional and national publicity has focused on the Fort Mason Center this year. The Los Angeles Times did a nationally syndicated article on the Center, Motorland Magazine, State of the Arts, the San Jose Mercury Monitor and others have done feature articles. The Center is featured in an NEA traveling exhibit on cultural facilities in the United States, and the Center was involved in a national conference entitled, The Arts Edge, which took place in Pittsburgh. Additionally, visitors from Singapore, the People's Republic of China, Slovenia, the Netherlands and Australia have interviewed us for articles in their respective countries. Increasingly, the Fort Mason Center is being looked at as a model for converting surplus or under-utilized space to community cultural use.

We have continued in our efforts to upgrade the facilities in the Fort Mason Center, and have developed a comprehensive five-year plan for the continued development of the Center with the goal of making the spaces and facilities in the Center as high quality as the groups and activities using it. This will be discussed in detail in our January calendar.

Piers 2 and 3 in the Center have been used for ever-increasing and diversified activities, and inquiries for 1982 and 1983 indicate that we will be hosting some of the Bay Area's most exciting large events in the Fort Mason Center. The successful Vietnam Veterans Job Fair, the Irish Fair, the Magic Theatre production of "Stuck," the annual Guardsmen Christmas Tree Sale, the Farmers Fair, and the Pacific States Crafts Fair all were successful and plan to return.

All this activity and public use has also helped us improve public transportation to the Fort Mason Center. Beginning December 31, 1981, the 28-Line will be coming directly into the Fort Mason center. This very important line links up with many others in the City and will help many people reach us without an automobile. We have hopes of other lines extending into Fort Mason Center in 1981.

The past year has seen increased involvement of our Board of Directors, especially in evidence through work done by our Facilities, Finance, Program and Development Committees.

Our staff has been reorganized, and now has a clear idea of the role which we play in the continued development of Fort Mason Center.

The success we have experienced in our fifth year of operation has led the National Park Service and the GGNRA Citizens Advisory Commission to recommend a twenty year extension of the Cooperative Agreement under which we have responsibility for the management and development of the Fort Mason Center. This vote of confidence in the Center will help us as we seek to continually improve the Center, and develop it into a program of which we can all be proud.

Thank you for your interest and support. We want you all to share in the success we have had in 1981 and we hope you will continue your involvement.

Sincerely,
Marc Kasky
